Project Summary

Based on a belief in a strong and democratic European Union, the project “Y-FED: Europe is what we make of it” aims to bring the EU institutions closer to European citizens and support the localization of the European Youth Goals. This project is intended to foster and strengthen young people’s active citizenship and their participation in the European project. It will contribute to raising awareness about the European Youth Policy, and will encourage policy reform and implementation actions at the local and regional levels. These aims will be achieved through an interactive process leading to a “Y-Fed: Youth simulation of the European Union”. The simulation will be developed based on the inputs from young people after a series of webinars, online consultation, hackathons and trainings that will give participants the chance to reshape the institutions with a view to bringing them closer to the people. By playing the roles of deputies, senators, lobbyists or journalists, participants will be given the opportunity to get involved in an EU decision-making process. Through this first-hand experience, they will improve their understanding of the EU governance and will be able to discuss ways of bringing it closer to European citizens. In the second part of the project, young people will enter the role of advocates for the implementation of the discussions and decisions from the simulation and advocate the implementation of the Youth Goals at the local/regional level. All the outputs from the project will be presented on a final conference with other stakeholders present. The project consortium, composed of local and European organisations representing the interests of diverse groups, will ensure that the voices of young people from different countries and socio-cultural backgrounds shape the deliverables of the project. The project partners will ensure that young people are in the driving seat through all the project and each of its phases.

Project Summary

COVID-19 pandemic has revealed how urban centers are the front and last lines of defense against infectious disease outbreaks. Young Service Designers' (YSD) scope is to boost hyperlocal structures for tackling local specific challenges, putting the youth at the centre of the renewal of their cities. YSD thus aims to support young people (16-21 y.o.) through a civic education and engagement approach fostering their competences and offering them the opportunity to experience a real participation in local decision-making to rethink their cities and public spaces towards healthier streets, revitalised buildings and more resilient neighbourhoods. YSD follows the methods of service design applied to the public sector. In particular, the approach takes inspiration by the UPSHIFT programme created by UNICEF: an experimental learning for social innovation to help young people unemployed and NEETs. As tangible results, the project will have: -18 youth workers in 6 EU Countries (IT, EL, SK, DE, FI, PL) trained to mentor young people -120 young people (20 per country) acquiring skills as YSD in a 40 hours training -6 Youth Public Innovation Labs at local level -6 Pilot Services co-designed by young participants (at least 1 per country) -Involvement of civil servants from the cities supporting YSD -Creation of an E-learning Collaborative Platform -Toolkit "Young Service Designers and Cities as partners and allies" Impact Youth workers will experiment new methods and acquire knowledge and skills to attract the interest of young people in active citizenship and to stimulate their desire in proposing solutions for tackling local challenges. Youngsters will acquire new capabilities with YSD, providing them with the necessary tools to become active citizens and to participate in local decision-making. By improving the quality of their services, youth organizations will be able to reach out also disadvantaged young people, most of them having lost their trust for politics.

Project Summary

Young people are keen to take control of their lives and engage with and support others. Yet many face uncertainties about their future, as a result of technological change, demographic trends, discrimination, social exclusion, fake news and populism with unknown effects on jobs, skills or the way our democracies work. More than ever, they need to be resilient and able to adapt to these challenges. While younger generations continue to take an active interest in political and social issues, the ways in which they participate are becoming ever more diverse. The views of young people are important in shaping EU youth policy, and they contribute to it by sharing their aspirations and needs and by employing their creativity and talents. VOYCE project scope is to put young people in the driver's seat and give them the necessary tools and instruments to create opportunities for dialogue and growing their youth audiences. Young people have a lot to say, but in many communities they do not have a forum to talk about their challenges, to voice their concerns, or to share their stories. They should learn to present their ideas among peers before to represent themselves and to speak out issues in front of institutions or any kind of public. The whole process will be supported by better skilled Youth Leaders/Animators also involved in the first phase of the project and in constant contact with young people in order to reinforce their capacity to act and be represented at local and European level. The VOYCE project aims to create and mobilize a growing youth community interested in EU matters and stimulate an active participation also from young people today not interested through the promotion of a structured online and offline cooperation among youth, youth representatives and civil and productive society supporting the Engage-Connect-Empower formula set into the youth Strategy 2019-2027.

Project Summary

BACKGROUNDDigital and smart youth work and mobility has emerged as a new trend and practice in youth field, as the use of innovative digital forms of participation increasingly motivates youth to engage in action-led initiatives and policy making. COVID-19 and its impact on youth sector has further underlined this trend, as a considerable part of activities related to “connecting, engaging and empowering” youth has been transferred online. This is thus a critical moment to shape the future of online youth engagement in democratic and civic life at EU level. @CTJUST brings together Youth NGOs and youth from 7 EU countries (EL, IT, DK, ES, LT, SRB), to pilot-test and define the right mix of physical and digital activities needed to enhance youth engagement, focusing on climate justice. RESULTSPilot-tested methodology for online and offline youth engagement in civic and democratic life through action-led initiatives, physical and digital mobilityYouth Agenda on climate justice formed by 70 youth in EUTraining programme on action-led initiatives for climate justice (210 youth trained)Action-led initiatives implemented by 70 youth in 7 countries under a pan-European project, 25 youth involved in digital mobilities, 108 participated in physical mobilities, 980 mentoring sessionsEU Policy brief on climate justice8 multi-stakeholder policy hackathons promoting policy dialogue on climate justice (470 participants)MOU between youth NGOs (20 signatories)EU youth team (20 members) monitoring adoption of policy briefRecommendations for National Youth Agencies IMPACTEnhanced civic and democratic youth engagement at local, national and EU level, through action-led initiatives, digital and physical mobilityEnhanced civic competences of youth with a focus on critical thinking, digital skills, climate justiceIncreased youth participation in policy dialogueEnhanced cooperation among youth NGOs promoting online youth engagement and digital youth mobility at EU level.

Project Summary

SMART-Y will start up a multi-nationality network of youth grassroots organisations active in EU rural areas and able to Engage, Connect and Empower vulnerable young people (aged 18-30), towards the co-creation of European smartvillages. Triggering youth with decision makers will back the realization of the European Youth Goal 10: Green Sustainable Europe. The ratio is rooted in a preliminary needs analysis addressed to the EU rural contexts; to the target groups (young people, youth workers, policy makers) active there; to the state of the art of relevant EU policies. A paradigm shift is needed towards a shared policy programming at local level in the EU, involving youth as protagonist of change: the cross-border initiatives envisaged will enhance the capacity of youth organizations to collaborate transnationally around specific EU policy issues considered relevant for the youth field, while contributing to make youngsters environmentally active, educated and able to make a difference in their everyday lives, as well as to tackle major challenges of EU rural territories. The approach is:- Participatory: youth participation to local policy programming in green and sustainability is fostered since the beginning via local living labs (WP4) gathering their specific priorities among those preliminarily analysed; the virtual hackathon (WP5), large-scale cross-border mobilities (WP6) and the National policy roundtables (WP7) will ease the co-creation of civic action projects, responding to the Smart villages strategy and the EU Green Deal- Practical: concrete youth-driven projects will catalyze empowerment and awareness, encouraging youth to take charge of their lifestyles' impact on the World Policy oriented: the project strategy embraces youth on specific civic and political challenges to be tackled by the EU in these years. Its experience will be transferred in the form of evidence-based, context-related policy recommendations, in multiple linguistic versions (WP8).

Project Summary

The project aims to foster engagement of youth with democratic procedures and involvement in decision making. In the first phase a training of youth workers on supporting youth to engage with democratic procedures will take place and right after a series of 7 youth exchanges with young participants from 8 European countries will be organized, aiming to enhance the ability of youth to cooperate regardless the place of origin and cultural background. Youth groups spend one week full of participatory activities and debates in 7 countries involving also local youngsters. At the end of each exchange the local youth who have been involved in the action, formulate a “local youth council”. In total 8 local youth councils are created within the project duration, aiming to transfer youth voice, in the form of policy papers, to decision makers of all levels, local, regional, national and European. Local youth councils are supported by local stakeholders through the development of local networks. Thus, young people can develop their future initiatives with the support of local communities. Representatives of the international network of young people be formulated at the end of the project, will present their policy recommendations to European Institutions in Brussels while the partners in cooperation with the youth workers and youth will develop a joint proposal idea based on policy recommendations in order to look for funding and expand the international cooperation of the network.

Project Summary

The project “The Realm of Eternal Youth” (REY) will strengthen the awareness of Europeans between 18 and 25 years of age on “What is politics” and therefore support the policy reform in the field of youth. Through its focus on three main features (1. debate training programs and competitions, 2. adaptations of a methodological approach against disinformation and hate speech, 3. joint magazine publications) the REY project provides open and effective tools for counterbalancing the rising polarization and disengagement of young people. The three main outputs – debate, engage, and connect – will all work on the co-design and co-delivery of actions focused on involving, building the capacities and mobilizing groups of young people in six EU countries. All activities will be co-designed by the youth: 1. The international debate competition topics will be decided between youth peers. Debates will bring together young people from different countries. 2. Young people will receive training and work on the selected topics in magazines, based on a peer-learning approach. 3. The youth will become active ambassadors in engaging peers by delivering recommendations to the concept of political engagement – in their cities and countries, as well as countries not covered by the project. Direct impacts of REY include:- Youth will venture out of usual social environment and widen horizons by delivering out-of-the-box activities for attitude change- Youth will better integrate in society by becoming valued citizens ready to challenge disengagement and polarization - A pan-European young people network will be created, able to provide with recommendations to other peers for implementing similar activities (debates simulations and competitions, magazine, open workshops)- The action will develop trans-national activities replicable to other target groups and/or countries- Local authorities, cultural organisations, youth associations will get a strengthened legitimacy

Project Summary

The European Changemaker Academy Project (ECMA) aims to empower young people to become changemakers in their own community, fostering active participation on the local level as well as belonging to the European community. Specifically this project is focused on:

- Building stronger youth organising on the local community level, while at the same time reinforcing its connection transnationally and to Europe.
- Mentoring the access to political life of young people as an underrepresented group through change ambassadors as role models.
- Experimenting new forms of capacity building to influence policy making from the grassroots to the European level.
- Creating a cross-sectoral and cross-target group cooperation, both in the consortium and on the different levels from local to European.

The ECMA is envisioning to contribute to this aim by introducing a comprehensive mentoring programme where 20 activists in 6 countries (120 in total) of local communities (multipliers) are supported by a transnational team of 6 change ambassadors and 30 changemakers, who are well-experienced and through the project, trained in local community organising, political participation with a European perspective and mentoring. 6 change ambassadors will train 30 changemakers who will mentor 120 multipliers through a blended online and on-site methodology developed by the partnership with external experts. The methodology, implemented by the changemakers, will foresee a MOOC, national training courses, practice study visits and several international events, including a policy seminar, a European Youth Goals Ideathon and a final conference of the project. The methodology will be piloted in Italy, Ireland, Hungary, Estonia, Croatia and Germany by the local partners of the project, and will be coordinated by 3 European level organisations, to value the approach of the project of local level, empowerment, connection to EU and participation and practice sharing.

The purpose is to empower a generation of deeply engaged youth to take back control of shaping their future on the basis on youth-to-youth-training, best-practice-sharing and creative and non-formal learning based on the folk high school philosophy of democratic educational measures as well as making use of online resources to create a pan-European network of young Sustainable Democracy Builders. To be able to achieve the purpose, the project contains of different work pages, which will be described under the WPs. The youth participants will be able to engage and participate in different activities which are called: ON, FOLK, ACT and VOICE. ON, is the online network and training course, which will serve to gather young people across borders in networking, digital activism, and training by the principles of non-formal online learning in a sustainable way. FOLK, is two European Folk High School weeks, where young people will meet, learn, participate, activate, engage and network about the post COVID-19 recovery and come up with concrete political solutions. ACT Consist of mobility and advocacy tours around Europe, where the youth will present their visions for Europe to stakeholders, at the same time learn about the political context and its complexity. Project Summary

Main aim of VIRAGO project is promoting regional partnerships and wider civic participation of young women from 5 EU member states and 1 candidate country and by doing this fostering the sense of European citizenship and European values. The project will achieve this through development of a cooperation network model in the context of EU Youth Strategy 2019-2027. Main target group will be young women aged 18-29 years, who will sustain partnership initiatives, encourage wider civic participation for their peers in the democratic process and in society. Today young women in Europe have access to more opportunities for participation at all levels of governance and policy making. Empowering them to be actively engaged in civic life is crucial to achieve positive outcomes – skills development, confidence and competency building. From Latin VIRAGO means WOMAN WHO DEMONSTRATES HEROIC QUALITIES. VIRAGO project will explore specific role and status of European young women in 6 partner countries–Romania, Bulgaria, Estonia, Italy, Spain and Turkey. A balanced partnership between public bodies and NGOs is established, as well as between “old” and “young” EU member states and a candidate. Target group will be involved in set of activities, that are logically targeted to the complex approach of ‘Engage-Connect-Empower’ priorities of EU Youth Strategy 2019-2027. Project duration is 24 months in all partner countries, by covering: researches on specific topics, targeted to youths and young women; training-of-young women trainers in EU Youth policy 2019-2027; improved skills of youths for project design and implementation; leadership seminars for young women; public debates on EU youth policy measures for 2019 – 2027; large-scale cross-border mobility activities for building youth networks and establishing partnerships. As a result, more than 1600 participants will be empowered for fostering sense of European citizenship and European values, by participating in 73 events.

Project Summary

Young offenders often come from disadvantaged areas where poverty and social exclusion are rife (T2A, 2009). Their “needs are complex and multiple, and commonly include poverty (many have not yet experienced work), educational failure, substance misuse, mental health problems, homelessness, young parenthood and leaving care” (Ibid., p.15). The VOICE action is a cross-sectorial cooperation project addressing issues concerning young people deprived of their liberty and from disadvantaged backgrounds. The action aims to support the implementation of the new EU Youth Strategy (2019-27) and proposes the development of a set of tools, a bottom-up approach and a peer-led methodology to foster the empowerment and engagement of young people in custody in EU policies. The VOICE action will also arrange Youth Dialogue meetings (with key stakeholders and policy makers) and youth mobilities gathering young people from Portugal, Lithuania, Spain, Romania, Netherlands, United Kingdom and Italy. Policy recommendations will also be drafted entailing provisions on how to unlock the voice of young adult offenders’ and promote their participation in what concerns EU policy activities relevant to the youth field. VOICE Working Packages: WP1 - Project Management, Coordination & Internal Communication WP2 - Training Toolbox to engage and train young adult offenders on European project and European values WP3 - Participatory Action – the bottom-up approach WP4 - Young people on the move WP5 - External Communication & Dissemination WP6 - Quality, Evaluation and Sustainability Partners expect that the project creates invaluable results among the participating young people, namely: strengthening their sense of EU citizenship; increasing their critical thinking and political literacy, democratic leadership, communication skills, civic and emotional competences; and promoting the development of their life skills which will produce a true impact on their life plan (reducing reoffending).

Project Summary

Background

Youth civic engagement remains one of the subjects that young people ask the EU to prioritise. According to their views and ideas, as collected through the “Future of Europe” study, one of the main reasons for the lack of engagement is the inherent lack of knowledge about the EU and EU policies, programmes and opportunities as well as what EU does for local communities and its citizens directly.

Objectives

Make information and news about the EU available through innovative media channels in multiple languages, by engaging young people through an online simulation gaming platform and app and by creating virtual reality educational tools Provide educational workshops and events for young people and youth workers to know about EU policies and priorities in the field of youth and to become multipliers of EU values Provide large-scale creative, experiential and immersive learning experiences for YP

Implementation

Project was implemented from October 2018 until the end of March 2021 (extension due to COVID19) in 5 countries around Europe engaging and connecting young people to cooperate and exchange on the topics of EU values and identity and develop creative and applied/educational games. Project, its implementation and results, were based on input and feedback of young people, creative expressions through games, videos and memes, discussions with policy makers directly through informal conversations.

Achievements

The main results of the project are: 9 applied games on the topics of EU identity, values and history; Engage/Connect/Empower stories and games based on human rights education approaches regarding social inclusion, migrations and diversity. Guidelines on gamification in youth work and non-formal education Recommendations for a better Europe created by young people Bringing Europe closer to youth people - educational tools and approaches All the games and outcomes are on www.gamifyeu.org

Each exchange involves the participation of 20 young people (4 plus a leader from each country) starting from 4 different corners of Europe (France, Italy, Sweden, Bulgaria) and with a common destination, Prague (Czech Republic) where a meeting will take place with all participants to exchanges and one representative from each organization to evaluate mobility actions and to initiate dissemination of results. The project also includes a kick-off meeting between all partners (Bulgaria), a technical preparation meeting for mobility (France) and a final meeting in Matera (Italy) in conjunction with the closing event of the European capital of culture. Dissemination events are planned in the 15 countries involved; it's also foreseen the creation of a website, information material and a video. Project Summary

Background

The interest in the EU among the youth hit a historical low when less than a third of young voters took part in the European Elections 2014. In many countries, the absence of youth-friendly discussion about Europe was exploited by extremists offering radical alternatives to democracy. Moreover, youth organisations tended to work in separation, failing to use their collective potential. The project 'Road to the Future' aimed to use the EP Elections 2019 as an opportunity to shift these trends.

Objectives

The project aimed to strengthen young people's democratic participation before and after the European Elections in 2019. It had two main objectives:- to encourage debate among young Europeans about the European Elections 2019 and increase their electoral turnout;- to ensure that young people and youth organisations are capable of working for the future of Europe with local and European decision-makers after the European Elections 2019.

Implementation

Between February and May 2019, youth activists trained as part of the project organised a series of debates and events aiming to raise awareness of the European Elections, sending a clear message to current and future decision-makers that young people's voices matter. Following the elections, the project participants developed their political advocacy skills, becoming active discussion partners to politicians working for a more youth-friendly Europe of the future.

Achievements

The project involved over 4,300 young people from 13 European countries directly during events and reached out to more than 1,050,000 online. At the European level, 7 capacity building and awareness-raising events were organised, along with over 70 activities at the national and local level, including debates, workshops, demonstrations, conferences and video campaigns. In addition, more than 26 youth engagement resources were developed and used by the participants of the campaign.

Project Summary

Background

Europe has been challenged with the rise of populism and a lack of participation of Europeans. Increased political participation of young people still stands as a challenge. The EP2019 was an opportunity to reconnect young people with the European project through meaningful dialogue with decision makers and other forms of engagement. The project was realised to increase awareness about the importance of youth participation, provide educational tools and increase young voter turnout for EP2019.

Objectives

The project has succeeded in: 1. Strengthening capacities of youth organisations developing civic competences of their members, 2. Promote the founding values of Europe and make young people reflect on their European identity, 3. Provide relevant information & tools for informed choices during EP2019 and 4. Create space for dialogue with decision-makers. It successfully engaged two large networks of young people in realising a pan-European action campaign involving youth from diverse backgrounds.

Implementation

The project implementation engaged 49 project partners in total. Partners gained deeper understanding of international project management, the working of the EU institutions and the Erasmus+ funding programme. Out of almost 50 project activities, all ensured an inclusive and safe space for learning, reaching out to young people with fewer opportunities, the educational materials being prepared by experienced youth workers, and the collection of evaluation and results after each activity.

Achievements

The project has realised its key deliverables in three main elements: 1. capacity-building activities (Academy Skopje 2018, winter and summer training, large-scale Youth Exchanges). 2. Dissemination and campaign activities to engage young people directly (Y Vote conventions, Europe on Track workshops in 22 cities across Europe, Scout National Actions and campaign activities). 3. EP Voting Guide, project websites and collection of recommendations from young people for the future of Europe.

Project Summary

Background

Growing Together (GT) provided a voice for young people, particularly those from rural areas who are directly impacted by our food system, to engage with crucial debates on the future of food production, & the wider debates on the future of Europe. The project has increased civic engagement & democratic participation of youth at risk of marginalisation in agriculture policy-making in relation to food sovereignty, by increasing cooperation between youth, social movement & decision-makers.

Objectives

1. To build educational, communications capacity, & knowledge on the topic of food sovereignty in 6 climate justice youth organisations across European cities, to enable effective organising with affected rural youth². To raise awareness & promote critical thinking among young people (e.g. farmers) to take collective action at local, national & European levels, & to engage in decision-making³. To empower young to have a say in international & European food & agricultural policies

Implementation

We implemented transformative education & accessible communication tools throughout 4 work packages & activities executed. Through experiential and innovative ways of learning, popular education methods have been used to create participatory environments & empower people who may not access information otherwise. Combined with accessible communication tools it ensured that our narrative on food sovereignty & its relation to policies on all levels is accessible & relateable to the mostly impacted.

Achievements

196 local & national activities reached 170 youth from 6 countries who developed specific skills & in-depth knowledge required for effective organising with rural youth on issues of food sovereignty policy & practical solutions. 3,350 youth (out of which 2,141 rural) were reached & empowered to engage in active debate & civil society actions. Through 55 broad outreach activities, 131,372 EU citizens were made aware of food & agriculture issues. Please refer to all results in attached PDF file

Project Summary

Background

It is a fact of relevance that children born by immigrant parents in Europe is critical for this second generation. The children born by post-war migrants in Europe have not completed their education and they are now in phase of working age. Evidence shows, however, that their opportunities and life chances are significantly inferior to those of children born to non-immigrants. This project aims to raise awareness of youth of second generation with a migration background in Europe.

Objectives

The RAYSE project has double roots: all organisations involved in the project have experience both in migration than in active citizenship. The partners detected that a common ground that deserves a deepening is the second generation of European citizens with a non-eu migration background. The objective is to raise the awareness of youth living in Europe, wherever they come from, to know their rights as EU Citizens and to express their own difficulties in the European country where they live.

Implementation

Through several local events, local and international workshops and events, there will be involved directly around 1000 youth in Italy, Belgium, Spain, Bulgaria, Greece and Sweden. Through interviews released by youth of 2nd generation migration background there will be published online stories of different youth. They told about their touching own stories, expectations and difficulties. On rayseproject.eu, the website and videos have been published (<https://rayseproject.eu/>)

Achievements

Concretely more than 1000 youth involved through local and international activities, 12 youth of second generation elected (two for each country including Belgium) Here the link <https://rayseproject.eu/ambassadors/> a manifesto published (https://rayseproject.eu/wp-content/uploads/2020/02/MANIFESTO-for-SECOND-GENERATION_final.pdf) to overcome the barriers in EU of being youth with migration background, new projects implemented on the same topic, a new Rayse network implemented <https://rayseproject.eu/>.

Project Summary

CONNECT is a 24 months project planned by a partnership composed by 9 partners based in 8 countries geographically located in different areas - north, south, east and west of EU (France, Slovakia, Lithuania, Estonia, Serbia, Turkey, Cyprus and Italy). The action tackles the problem of the increasing number of young people who lack trust in the EU and public institutions in general, encountering difficulties in understanding their principles, values, and functioning. The main need identified is the lack of youth INVOLVEMENT and dialogue in all stages of the policy making decision and the consequent necessity to improve the existing participatory mechanisms and creating new ones. The actual situation given by the COVID 19 showed exactly how we have been missing a solid and immediate reaction from the civil society and therefore from the youth sector to give answer to the fear, doubts and more in general to the “unexpected”. We believe that the youth organizations organized in local networks could plan activities to instill resilience in the young people and equip them with competences and skills that could help them in facing and overcoming situations like the one created by COVID 19 and prevent similar ones that could eventually occur, as we learnt. The project targets young people and youth organizations in Europe, creating new models of cooperation among different actors of the society. It supports the birth of new networks which facilitate the recognition and the development of youth work, providing youth with competences, tools and strategies useful to increase the impact of the activities implemented at local and international level with the aim of fostering active participation. The consortium aims at supporting youngsters' development, enabling them to become more active members of society, improving their citizenship skills and fostering their capacity to intervene and take action in support crises situations that could affect the community in which they live
